

NAFSA Health and Safety Guidelines

The following guidelines were prepared by NAFSA, an organization devoted to international education. They are intentionally general and are not meant to account for all possible health, safety, and security issues, but they do offer excellent advice.

Study abroad participants should

Assume responsibility for all the elements necessary for their personal